ALAN GOH

Chief Executive Officer
SPORT SINGAPORE

Welcome to the inaugural BYD Singapore International Marathon presented by adidas. We are pleased to welcome runners from Singapore and around the world, as we mark a new chapter for Singapore's national marathon.

More than just a race, the Singapore International Marathon brings people together. We look forward to seeing families, friends and supporters cheering the runners and being an integral part of the race weekend. This year's event also introduces several firsts — we will have an exclusive adidas apparel capsule collection, and there will be Medic Runners who will provide additional support to participants along the race route.

This year, runners can look forward to crossing the finish line at our iconic National Stadium once again. With a range of community activities planned throughout the race weekend, our Kallang Precinct will be the site of a vibrant race village for runners, supporters and the wider community to enjoy.

I would like to extend my appreciation to our title sponsor BYD, presenting sponsor adidas, and all our partners for their support in making this event possible. Together, we look forward to delivering a memorable experience for everyone.

To all runners, enjoy the experience, stay safe, stay hydrated and have a great race!

LEON LAI

Chief Executive Officer
SG INTERNATIONAL MARATHON

Dear Runners,

Welcome to the 2026 BYD Singapore International Marathon presented by adidas. By the time you stand at the start line, you'll already have a story to tell. It might be about the friend who talked you into signing up, the early mornings you carved out to train, or the first time a distance that once felt so out of reach has miraculously started to feel possible. Whether this is your first race or one you've returned to for years, I hope you take a moment to pause and feel proud of what it took for you to get here.

My hope is for the BYD Singapore International Marathon presented by adidas to grow into a race that will always feel like home to Singapore's runners, and one that international runners would want to return to because of how this city has made them feel. I'd love for someone cheering from the roadside this year to think, "I could do that," and find themselves on the start line next year. That's the kind of legacy I dream of us building, one that brings more people into this sport we love so much, and gives them a reason and a community to keep running with long after race weekend.

That starts with taking care of the people who put their trust in us. Your safety and well-being are at the heart of how we plan and deliver this race. I'm grateful to our partners, the authorities, our medical teams, the volunteers and the organising team who have put in so much work to take care of runners throughout the weekend.

Proven in Sweat. Powered by Spirit. You've put in the effort to get here. This weekend, I hope you feel the spirit of a city that's out there cheering you on.

Have a wonderful race weekend. I look forward to welcoming you at the Start Line.

SHALINDRAN SATHIYANESAN

Event Director
SG INTERNATIONAL MARATHON

Dear Runners,

Race weekend is finally here! Some of you have been up before sunrise to train, while others have fit runs around work, family, and everything else life throws at you. Whatever distance you're taking on, take a moment at the start line to appreciate the hard work and dedication it took to get there.

Before race day, take a few minutes to go through this guide. Familiarise yourself with how to get to the Start Village, your race route, start time, cut-off times, hydration points and medical support available along the course. On race day, remember to pace yourself and run within your limits.

Your safety is our priority. This year, we've introduced Medic Runners on the marathon and half marathon routes. They'll run alongside you, working with our medical teams, race marshals and volunteers to provide additional support when needed. If you feel unwell, please stop and seek help. And if you see a fellow runner in distress, alert a race marshal or a member of the medical team. Let's keep looking out for one another.

At our Home of Runners, we've brought race pack collection, the race expo and the finish line together in one place. It's now easier for your friends and family to join you after the race and celebrate your achievement. I hope it's where you share that first hug, capture a memorable photo and finally tell the people who've been cheering you on all about your race.

Most importantly, enjoy your race, look out for the people around you, and take time to celebrate when you're done. You've earned it.

See you out there!

COURSE
HIGHLIGHTS AND MAPS

Your race route has more than kilometres ahead.

Along the way, you'll pass landmarks that showcase Singapore's mix of heritage, modern architecture, and green spaces. Take a look around when you can, and learn more about the city you're running through.

LANDMARKS ALONG THE COURSE

F1 PIT BUILDING

The race begins at a venue built for speed, strategy, and split-second decisions. The F1 Pit Building is part of the Marina Bay Street Circuit, where Formula One cars roar through Singapore's streets during the world-famous night race. This time, the starting grid belongs to you!

SUNTEC CITY

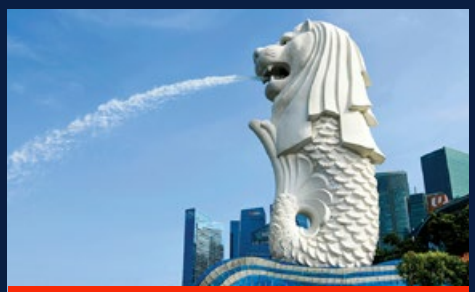
Look up and you might spot one of Singapore's most recognisable architectural curiosities: the Fountain of Wealth, a giant bronze ring inspired by feng shui. The five surrounding office towers represent the fingers of a hand, while the fountain symbolises wealth and prosperity. A fitting landmark to pass as you chase your race-day goals.

WAR MEMORIAL PARK

Standing quietly in the heart of the city, the Civilian War Memorial honours the civilians who lost their lives during World War II. Its four towering pillars symbolise the shared suffering of Singapore's four main ethnic groups. Known locally as the "Four Chopsticks", the memorial offers a moment of reflection amid the city's bustle.

ESPLANADE

With its distinctive spiky domes, the Esplanade is affectionately nicknamed "the Durian" by Singaporeans, after the famously pungent tropical fruit. This performing arts centre hosts everything from orchestral concerts to theatre and free outdoor performances. Love it or hate it, this is one local nickname you won't forget.



MERLION

LAU PA SAT

Meaning "old market" in Hokkien, Lau Pa Sat is a historic market housed in a cast-iron structure dating back to 1894. Its distinctive shape and ornate columns make it a standout heritage landmark, filled with stalls serving local favourites like satay, chicken rice and laksa. By evening, the nearby street comes alive with satay stalls and outdoor dining.

FORMER TANJONG PAGAR RAILWAY STATION

Before air travel and expressways, this grand railway station connected Singapore to the Malayan railway network, with trains running north to Kuala Lumpur and beyond. Opened in 1932, its Art Deco architecture features striking murals depicting everyday life. Though no trains depart here today, it remains a treasured reminder of Singapore's railway past.

SINGAPORE ART MUSEUM

Singapore Art Museum (SAM) showcases contemporary art from Singapore, Southeast Asia and beyond. Once a Catholic boys' school, its former home at St Joseph's Institution on Bras Basah Road now serves as a space for creative expression. Discover how artists explore identity, culture and the world around us.

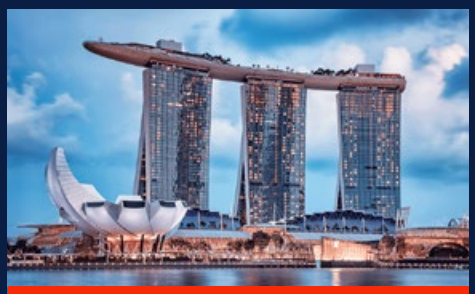
SINGAPORE CABLE CAR

Fancy a different perspective of Singapore? The Singapore Cable Car takes passengers high above the harbour, connecting Mount Faber to Sentosa Island with sweeping views of the city, sea, and greenery. It first opened in 1974, making it one of the world's pioneering urban cable car systems.

LANDMARKS ALONG THE COURSE

GARDENS BY THE BAY

Welcome to a garden where nature meets the future! Gardens by the Bay spans more than 100 hectares and is home to the iconic Supertrees, towering vertical gardens that light up after dark in a spectacular sound-and-light show. Step inside the Cloud Forest to discover a misty indoor mountain and one of the world's tallest indoor waterfalls.



MARINA BAY SANDS

With three soaring towers topped by a ship-shaped SkyPark, Marina Bay Sands is one of Singapore's most recognisable icons. Its striking silhouette overlooks the waterfront and Gardens by the Bay. Nearby, the ArtScience Museum's lotus-inspired design adds another distinctive touch to the skyline.

MARINA BARRAGE

More than just a rooftop park, Marina Barrage is Singapore's first city-centre reservoir, helping manage water supply and flood control. Its open green space is also a popular spot for picnics and kite-flying, showing how Singapore turns essential infrastructure into everyday spaces.

KEPPEL MARINA EAST DESALINATION PLANT

This futuristic facility turns seawater into fresh drinking water. The Keppel Marina East Desalination Plant is Singapore's first large-scale dual-mode plant, designed to treat both seawater and freshwater. Much of its equipment sits underground, while its green rooftop offers a space for the public to enjoy the outdoors.

BENJAMIN SHEARES BRIDGE

Named after Singapore's second President, Dr Benjamin Henry Sheares, this bridge crosses the Kallang Basin and stands approximately 29 metres above sea level, making it Singapore's highest bridge. For runners, it's known for one of the course's toughest climbs, testing tired legs and determination. Take it one step at a time – the downhill awaits!

SINGAPORE FLYER

Standing 165 metres tall, the Singapore Flyer offers sweeping views of Marina Bay and, on clear days, parts of Malaysia and Indonesia. When it opened in 2008, it was the world's tallest observation wheel. As you pass beneath it, spare a thought for the passengers enjoying the skyline above while you clock up the kilometres below!

MERDEKA BRIDGE

Merdeka means "independence" in Malay, reflecting Singapore's journey toward nationhood. Spanning the Kallang Basin, the bridge reminds us that the city's modern skyline sits alongside places that carry stories of its past. As you run across, take a moment to appreciate the history beneath your feet.

OLD KALLANG AIRPORT

Before Singapore became known for Changi Airport, Kallang was home to an earlier aviation hub. Today, the former airport's distinctive architecture offers a glimpse into the city's early days of air travel. Look out for its striking curves and imagine what it was like to arrive by plane in a very different era.

THE KALLANG (NATIONAL STADIUM)

Welcome to Singapore's Home of Sport, where generations have gathered to cheer and compete. Opened in 2014, the National Stadium features a retractable roof and movable seating. For SGIM26 runners, it's an iconic finish line celebrating the spirit of the running community.

COMMUNITY
SHOWCASE

Meet some of the clubs and crews behind Singapore's vibrant running scene.

From local run clubs to the unsung heroes who make race weekend possible, explore the connections, shared passion, and running spirit that bring us together.

HOOD LOOPS

Hood Loops is a series of community runs hosted by local run clubs, inviting runners to explore new streets, parks, and hidden routes, one loop at a time. Each run features a locally curated route led by clubs who know their hoods best, with guest athletes joining along the way to share the miles and connect with the community.

The journey culminated in the Hood Loops Festival, held on 5 and 6 September 2026 at CQ @ Clarke Quay. The two-day celebration brought together runners, run clubs, athletes, and the wider community through community runs, athlete appearances, talks, fitness and wellness sessions, art jamming, live entertainment, and brand experiences.

More than just a lead-up to race weekend, Hood Loops celebrates the people and communities that make running part of everyday life in Singapore, one neighbourhood and one shared run at a time.

See you at Hood Loops next year!

LION CITY ROAD RUNNERS ADIDAS PACERS

The journey to SGIM26 starts long before race weekend. Lion City Road Runners (LCRR) is a new community initiative that brings runners together under one collective identity as they prepare for race day. United by a shared love for running, LCRR creates a supportive space for runners of all levels to train, grow, and progress together.

Powered by Running Department and led by our dedicated LCRR adidas Pacers, weekly training sessions have brought runners together across Singapore, from Punggol and Marina Bay to The Kallang and Jurong Lake Gardens. By bringing training runs to different parts of the island, LCRR makes it easier for runners to build their mileage, connect with fellow runners, and be part of a wider community.

MEDIC RUNNERS

Looking out for one another is part of the running spirit. New to SGIM26, the Medic Runners initiative brings over 200 Medic Runners onto the BYD Marathon and adidas Half Marathon routes, combining their experience and training to support runners when they need assistance.

SGIM26 RUNNERS' GUIDE

BYD SINGAPORE INTERNATIONAL MARATHON

GOLD LABEL WORLD ATHLETICS ROAD RACE 2025

THANK YOU TO OUR 3,963 VOLUNTEERS

Behind every successful race is a team of people who make it all possible. From helping runners find their way to keeping race-day operations running smoothly, our volunteers play an important role in bringing SGIM26 to life. Whether you're supporting at the start line, along the course, or at the finish line, every contribution matters.

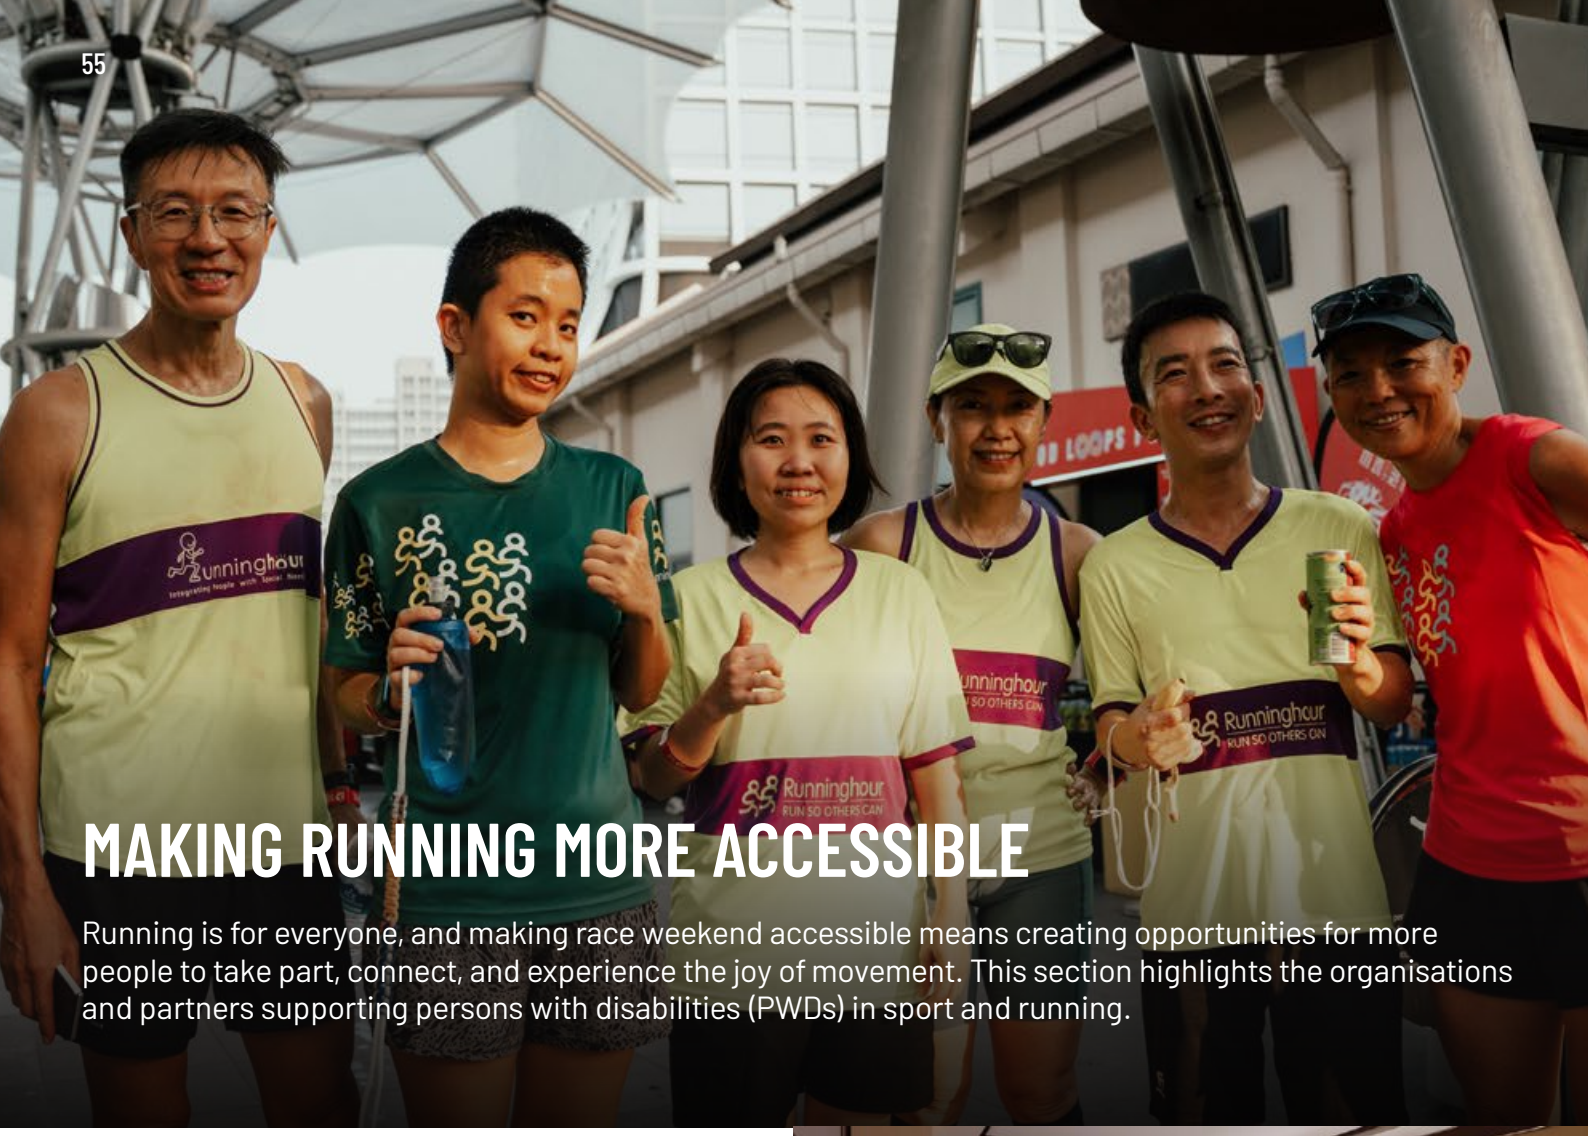
Thank you for being part of the team that makes this race possible.

LOCAL ARTIST SPOTLIGHT: JONNY CHAN

Every running community has its own stories, and sometimes, the best way to tell them is through art. For local artist and runner Jonny Chan, better known as @jjjjonny, that means bringing his creative perspective to the world of running. For SGIM26, Jonny designed the BYD Marathon Finisher Tee and Kids Dash Tee, capturing different sides of the race experience, from the achievement of crossing the finish line to the excitement of young runners.

Jonny has also brought his creativity to Hood Loops, designing pieces for its National Day runs and festival. Across these projects, his work offers a creative take on the people, places, and communities that make Singapore's running scene special.

Are you a local artist with an idea inspired by running or Singapore's running community? Fill out this form.



MAKING RUNNING MORE ACCESSIBLE

Running is for everyone, and making race weekend accessible means creating opportunities for more people to take part, connect, and experience the joy of movement. This section highlights the organisations and partners supporting persons with disabilities (PWDs) in sport and running.

SPORTCARES

Through inclusive sport and community programmes, SportCares helps create opportunities for people from different backgrounds and abilities to participate, build connections, and experience the benefits of sport.

RUNNING HOUR

Running Hour champions an inclusive running community for people with special needs and disabilities. Through guided runs and the support of volunteer guides, participants can enjoy running together in a welcoming environment where everyone has a place on the course.

FRIENDS OF SGIM

Make more of your SGIM26 experience with Friends of SGIM! This initiative brings together local participating businesses and partners offering exclusive promotions, special deals, and experiences for the SGIM community.

Whether you're looking for a post-run meal, a place to unwind, or something new to explore, there's more to discover beyond the race.

EXPLORE FRIENDS OF SGIM

Browse the Friends of SGIM Directory to discover participating businesses, where to find them, and what they have to offer. Simply select a listing to view its details and redeem the available promotion.

CHARITY
& GIVING BACK

The impact of Singapore's only national marathon extends beyond race day. Alongside bringing runners together through a shared passion for running, SGIM supports initiatives that give back to the community and create opportunities to make a meaningful difference.

By connecting the running community with causes that matter, SGIM aims to extend the spirit of the event beyond the finish line.

DONATING BCRS FUNDS TO CHARITY

SGIM's commitment to giving back takes many forms. While sport creates positive experiences for participants, we recognise that mass participation events such as SGIM also require significant resources.

Beyond reducing the waste generated by our activities, SGIM channels funds raised through the Bottles and Cans Recycling Scheme (BCRS) to SportCares, supporting its work to use sport as a force for good.

SAFETY INFORMATION

Your safety matters at every stage of SGIM26, from preparing for race day to crossing the finish line. SGIM26 has a multi-layered system of measures and medical support throughout race weekend to ensure every participant enjoys the event as safely as possible.

Safety is a shared responsibility. Before race day, take some time to familiarise yourself with the safety information in this guide, know where to seek help, and understand what to do if you feel unwell or encounter an emergency during the race.

EMERGENCY CONTACTS

Keep these important contacts handy throughout race weekend.

RACE-DAY EMERGENCY HOTLINE:
9365 8985 / 8418 3301

GENERAL EVENT ENQUIRIES:
6701 1230

MEDICAL ASSISTANCE:

If you require medical attention during the race, alert the nearest course marshal, medic runner, or medical personnel.

In an emergency, follow event personnel instructions and seek medical assistance immediately.

GETACTIVE QUESTIONNAIRE

Before taking on your race, take a moment to check in with yourself. Completing your GAQ helps assess your readiness to participate and make an informed decision about your health.

Please answer all questions honestly and follow the guidance provided. If you feel unwell or have concerns about your fitness to race, seek advice from a qualified healthcare professional before participating. Complete your GAQ here.

RACE CONDITION INDICATORS

IN THE EVENT THAT CONDITIONS BECOME UNFAVOURABLE DURING THE RACE

Look for these signs every 7km, which will be raised to communicate current conditions.

PROCEED

Status:
Normal running conditions.

CAUTION

Status:
Normal running conditions.

Runners to proceed with caution, due to light drizzle or rising temperatures.

HIGH RISK

Status:
Run with care.

Runners should be more aware of their surroundings with higher temperatures or increasing rainfall.

EXTREME

Status:
Race to be halted until further instructions from Race Officials.

Extreme heat conditions or CAT 1 status.

RACE DAY SAFETY

Race day is the culmination of months of training, but your safety should always come first. Conditions on the day, including Singapore's heat and humidity, can place additional demands on your body. Be prepared to adjust your pace or stop if necessary.

ANYONE CAN BE A LIFESAVER

Your bib includes two emergency medical hotlines on the back. If you see someone who needs medical care, alert nearby course marshals, medic runners, and first-aiders,

OR CALL: 9365 8985 / 8418 3301

These are direct lines to SGIM's Emergency Command Centre, which will dispatch a medical team to your location.

KNOW WHEN TO STOP

If you experience chest pain, severe breathlessness, confusion, or other serious symptoms, stop running and seek urgent medical attention. Alert a course marshal or medical personnel (including medic runners), and do not attempt to continue running if you feel unwell.

DURING A CAT 1 LIGHTNING ALERT

In the event of a CAT 1 lightning alert or other weather-related instruction, follow directions from event organisers and course personnel immediately.

Stop running when instructed and follow course marshals' directions on where to move or seek shelter.

Do not resume running until the official all-clear is issued. Race operations may be delayed, suspended or adjusted due to weather or safety conditions. Please monitor official event updates.

MANAGE THE HEAT

Start well hydrated and drink at regular intervals throughout the race, using the available hydration stations.

Wear suitable running attire and take advantage of opportunities to cool down where available.

Pay attention to how you feel. Dizziness, nausea, unusual weakness, confusion, or feeling faint are warning signs that you should stop and seek medical assistance.

DO NOT FEEL PRESSURED TO MAINTAIN YOUR TARGET PACE IF CONDITIONS BECOME CHALLENGING.

FOLLOW COURSE MARSHALS' INSTRUCTIONS

Course marshals help keep participants safe and guide runners along the route. Please follow their instructions at all times, including directions at road crossings, turns, restricted areas, and any points where the route or race operations may change.

Do not enter closed-off areas, leave the designated route, or disregard safety instructions. If you need help, approach the nearest course marshal or medical personnel.

RACE DAY ETIQUETTE

Thousands of runners will share the course during SGIM26. A little awareness and consideration can go a long way toward a safer, smoother race for everyone.

START IN THE RIGHT PEN

Enter your assigned pen before the closing time and arrive early if you want to secure a spot at the front. Do not attempt to enter a pen you're not assigned to or push through the crowd to get ahead. Starting in the right position helps runners spread out safely and find their rhythm.

BE AWARE OF YOUR SURROUNDINGS

Stay alert to the runners around you, especially at the start, around turns, and along narrower sections of the course. Avoid sudden changes in direction or stopping abruptly. If you need to stop, move towards the side of the course when it is safe to do so.

OVERTAKE WITH CARE

When overtaking, check that there is enough space and move around other runners safely. Avoid abruptly cutting across another runner's path. Where course conditions allow, overtake on the right and keep left when running at a comfortable pace. Use your hands to indicate directional changes or point out potential obstacles.

HYDRATE WITHOUT HOLDING UP OTHERS

When approaching a hydration station, move towards it gradually and be mindful of runners behind you. Once you have collected your drink, move clear of the station before slowing down or stopping. Dispose of cups and rubbish only in designated areas.

CAPTURE THE MOMENT SAFELY

Want to capture your SGIM26 experience? Be mindful of fellow runners when taking photos or videos. If using a phone, camera, or selfie stick, make sure it does not obstruct other participants or create a hazard. Avoid stopping suddenly or changing direction to get a shot, and keep your equipment secure while running.

LOOK OUT FOR ONE ANOTHER

A race is better when everyone looks out for one another. Be considerate of fellow runners, give others room to move, and alert a course marshal or medical personnel if you notice someone who appears to need help.

LET'S MAKE SGIM26 A SAFE AND ENJOYABLE EXPERIENCE FOR EVERYONE ON THE COURSE.

SPECTATOR GUIDE

Every cheer counts. Whether you're supporting a first-time runner, helping a friend chase a personal best, or simply soaking up the race-day atmosphere, your support can make a difference.

Planning to cheer on your favourite runner at SGIM26? Use this guide to find spectator-friendly viewing spots, explore cheer zones and activations, and plan your journey around the course. With a little planning, you can make the most of race day and be there for those all-important moments.

GETTING TO THE COURSE

Planning to catch your runner in action? Check your travel options before heading out, and allow extra time for road closures, crowd movement, and changes to public transport access during race weekend.

Plan how to get to your preferred viewing spot, which transport options are available, and any access restrictions to be aware of before you set off.

View Transport Options

SPECTATOR ETIQUETTE

Your presence and energy can give runners that extra boost when they need it most. Help make SGIM26 a great experience for everyone by cheering responsibly and keeping the course safe and clear.

A LITTLE CONSIDERATION GOES A LONG WAY. CHEER ON YOUR RUNNERS, LOOK OUT FOR ONE ANOTHER, AND HELP MAKE RACE DAY SAFER AND MORE ENJOYABLE FOR EVERYONE.

DO'S

CHEER YOUR RUNNERS ON

Bring the energy, your handmade signs, bells, clappers, and more. Shout at the top of your lungs, and celebrate every runner along the way.

KEEP THE COURSE CLEAR

Leave enough space for runners to pass safely, especially at turns, narrow sections, and hydration stations, and follow instructions from course marshals and event personnel.

BE MINDFUL OF OTHER SPECTATORS

Share viewing space considerately so everyone has a chance to see and cheer on their runners.

PLAN YOUR TRANSPORT

Check road closures and transport arrangements in advance, and allow enough time to move between viewing points.

DON'TS

DON'T ENTER THE RACE COURSE

Keep off the running route and never cross in front of runners. Use designated crossing points where available, and follow event personnel's instructions.

DON'T RUN ALONGSIDE PARTICIPANTS

Only registered participants are allowed on the race course. Avoid pacing or accompanying runners on foot or by bicycle.

DON'T BLOCK THE ROUTE

Keep pathways, access points, and emergency routes clear at all times.

KEEP EQUIPMENT CLEAR OF OTHERS

Be mindful when taking photos or videos. Avoid extending selfie sticks, signs, or other items into runners' paths or blocking other spectators' views.

DON'T DISREGARD SAFETY INSTRUCTIONS

Follow directions from course marshals and event personnel, including during weather alerts or emergency situations.

EFGH
NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

The EFGH National Championships bring together Singapore's top distance runners to compete for national honours and the title of national champion. More than a race, it offers a chance to see Singapore's best runners go head-to-head, pushing their limits in pursuit of a coveted title.

As part of SGIM26, the EFGH National Championships add another layer of competition to race weekend, bringing national pride, personal ambition, and the pursuit of excellence to the course.

THE STORYLINES

MEN'S MARATHON

EXPERIENCE VERSUS THE NEXT GENERATION

Who to watch: Richard Heng, Rui Yong Soh, Keane Ko

Can experience prevail, or will the next generation break through?

The Men's Marathon features a stacked field. Richard Heng has surged from newcomer to SEA Games marathoner, while Rui Yong Soh arrives with proven championship racing pedigree—as 2025's champion of both the Marathon and Half Marathon. He Yong and Keane Ko's qualifying times put them in firm contention, but Singapore is a different beast than cool, temperate climates.

Throw in the likes of Aaron Justin Tan (2025 National Championships Men's Marathon 2nd), Darren Chong (2025 National Championships Men's Marathon 3rd), Ben Khoo (Singapore's first 100km National Record Holder) and Arif Ibrahim (2025 National Championships Men's Half Marathon 3rd), and race day is a tantalising affair.

WOMEN'S MARATHON

THE MARATHON IS NEVER WON ON PAPER

Who to watch: Goh Shing Ling, Serena Teoh, Chng Siew Lu, Rachel See and Sharon Tan

Qualifying times set the scene, but race day decides the title.

Shing Ling Goh, a rising name in Singapore's marathon scene, is back this year after sitting out 2025 National Championships to represent Singapore at the SEA Games. She toes the line with the fastest listed qualifying time. Serena Teoh's 2:56:54 qualifying time is faster than 2025's podium finishers Sharon Tan (3rd), Chng Siew Lu (2nd) and Rachel See (three-time defending champion).

While Shing Ling, Serena, Siew Lu and Sharon have posted qualifying times from races in temperate climates, Rachel qualifies with her 2:58:15 winning time from 2025 in tropical Singapore.

It's time to see how faster qualifying performances translate on race day.

MEN'S HALF MARATHON

THE QUALIFYING LEADER VS THE NR HOLDER

Who to watch: Shaun Goh, Jon Lim, Shohib Marican and Najib Mooiz.

Jon Lim's qualifying performance set the early benchmark, but the field has changed since then.

Shaun Goh brings national-record credentials over shorter road distances and rewrote Singapore's Half Marathon National Record in October, while leading qualifier Jon Lim returns after being hampered by injuries over the past two years.

Shohib Marican offers the perspective and experience of an athlete who also coaches others, while Najib Mooiz returns after finishing 2nd in the 2025 National Championships Half Marathon and setting a PB in October.

WOMEN'S HALF MARATHON

CHASING THE NEXT BREAKTHROUGH

Who to watch: Vanessa Lee, Nicole Low, Cloey Wong and Ng Xuan Jie

Who will turn experience and recent progress into a breakthrough championship performance? The women's half marathon promises a compelling contest, with a rising group of athletes bringing different strengths and momentum to the start line.

Vanessa Lee set a national record of 1:16:04 at the 2026 Gold Coast Half Marathon, while Nicole Low's 2026 Nagoya City Half Marathon win adds another standout result to the field. Their performances point to an increasingly competitive scene — and raise the prospect of another step forward for long-distance running in Singapore.

Cloey Wong has shown strong progression in both local and overseas racing. Xuan Jie Ng brings a multisport background shaped by duathlon, adding another dimension to a field full of varied experience.

Together, their recent progress sets up an intriguing question: who will make the most of the opportunity and deliver the next breakthrough?

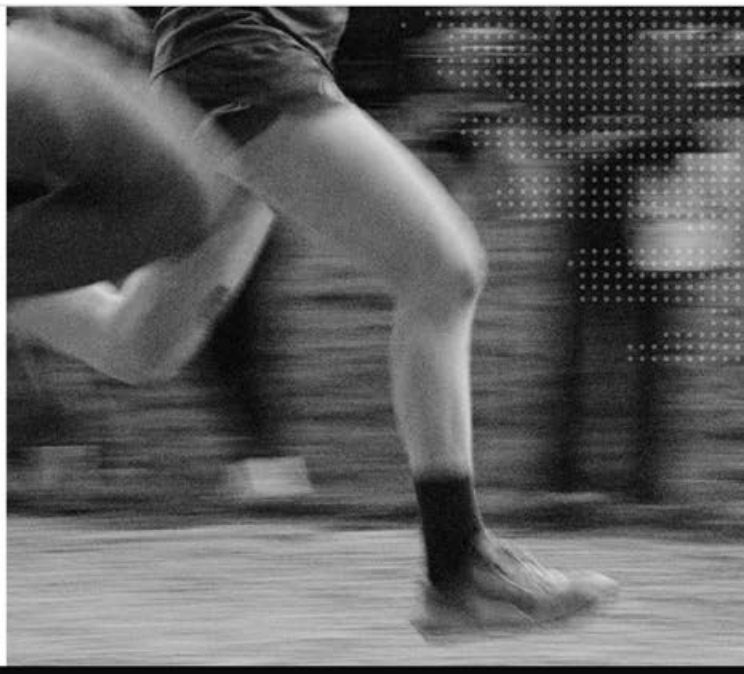
WHEN TALENT GETS THE TIME



Talent can be spotted in a moment. Developing it takes time.

Time to train. Time to recover. Time to compete against the best. And time to discover just how far talent can go.

SINGAPORE DISTANCE RUNNER SHAUN GOH

Shaun is the first athlete signed to Betterment Sports' Professional Athlete Scheme. EFGH proudly provides additional funding as he trains and competes full-time.

Since turning professional, Shaun has raised the bar, setting national road records for the mile, 5km, 10km and half marathon.*

His progress shows what can happen when talent is backed by more than applause.

Information accurate at publication.*

THAT IS WHY EFGH BACKS THE NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS.

Supporting sport means more than celebrating athletes at the finish line. It means giving them a fair shot long before the starting gun. Talent still has to do the running. We simply want to help clear the track.

SUSTAINABILITY

Putting on a major running event comes with environmental considerations, from the resources used on race day to how participants travel to and from the event. At SGIM26, sustainability efforts focus on practical ways to reduce waste, encourage more responsible choices, and lessen the event's environmental footprint.

From reducing single-use plastics to exploring lower-impact transport options, these initiatives support an ongoing effort to make race weekend more mindful of its environmental impact.

REDUCING WASTE

Reducing waste is key to a more sustainable race weekend. SGIM26 is taking steps to reduce reliance on single-use plastics and encourage more responsible resource use through reusable alternatives and recycling initiatives.

SGIM REUSABLE COLLAPSIBLE CUP

The SGIM reusable collapsible cup is a new addition to this year's race pack, offering runners an alternative to single-use cups. Its compact design makes it easy to carry during training and on the go, helping runners make reusability part of their running routine.

BCRS: TURNING RECYCLING INTO COMMUNITY SUPPORT

Through the Beverage Container Return Scheme (BCRS), eligible beverage containers can be returned for a refund. At all SGIM activations (e.g., LCRR, Hood Loops, Hood Loops Festival and Race Week) SGIM channels BCRS refunds to SportCares, connecting recycling with support for the wider community.

REDUCING CARBON FOOTPRINT

Transport is another area where choices can make a difference. Through partnerships and initiatives that support alternative transport options, SGIM26 aims to encourage more considered ways for participants and the wider community to travel during race weekend.

BYD ELECTRIC VEHICLES

Getting thousands of runners race-ready takes more than the effort on the course.
Behind the scenes, BYD electric vehicles support SGIM26's event operations in the lead-up to and throughout race weekend, bringing electric mobility into the journey behind Singapore's national marathon.

SMRT EARLY TRAIN SERVICES

To help runners get to the start line, SMRT will operate complimentary early train services on 6 December. The additional services provide another public transport option for participants travelling to race venues in the early hours of race morning.

ANYWHEEL PARTNERSHIP

Through its partnership with Anywheel, SGIM encourages the use of shared bicycles as an alternative for suitable journeys. This offers another way for the running community to get around while reducing reliance on private motorised transport.
